

Prof. Xinhe Bao's research focuses mainly on the fundamental understanding of catalysis, and its application to the development of new catalysts and catalytic processes for energy conversion, especially in the fields of clean coal and natural gas utilization. Prof. P